

Day Against Drug Abuse

Special Assembly

X- C

"Drugs take you to hell, disguised as heaven." – Donald Lyn Frost

On this day the students of Std. X C, conducted a poignant and insightful assembly to mark the Day Against Drug Abuse. The assembly began with a powerful skit that highlighted the dangers of drug addiction and its impact on individuals and families.

Through their compelling performances, the students conveyed the message of resilience, hope, and the importance of making positive choices. Following the skit, students shared real-life stories and statistics, shedding light on the alarming rates of drug abuse and its consequences. Inspirational speeches were delivered, encouraging their peers to stay away from drugs and make healthy life choices. The assembly concluded with a pledge, taken by all students, to live drug-free lives and support those struggling with addiction.
